OBJECTIVE

I have always had an interest in technology, but it was my first courses in programming that made me realize the passion I have for software development. For the first time in my life, I find myself excited for class and material I am learning. I can barely wait to start a career in technology, and I believe that the Pathfinder program can help me achieve my goals.

COMMUNICATION

For my last two years with Lambo Construction, I would brief all workers on-site each morning, do five-minute standup meetings after lunch and close each day with a summary and tomorrow's goals.

LEADERSHIP

Over the past decade my employers have continuously promoted me into managerial and leadership positions. I believe that this is due to my work ethic, attention to detail, punctuality, and ability to work with others.
